Cindy — I guess all I can say is "thanks" for all the help in French. I'm sure was a dumb class. Just can't forget those exclamations for points taken off! Still laugh whenever I think about it. It's been a pretty good year considering everything. Even P.E. wasn't too bad. But that stupid English class is a lie.

It's really hard to say something in writing to somebody you know well. I can't say see you next year, & have a fun summer, because I know I will be seeing you over the summer alot. This summer is really special (I forgot you are working in Pine Valley maybe I won't see you alot) anyway I am going to be working on summer staff at church. I know we will both grow alot. Maybe we can get together at the end of summer and share some of our experiences.

First SPHS assembly

Cindy,
It was really fun knowing you this year, I hope you have a nice summer. See ya next year. Good luck as a senior!

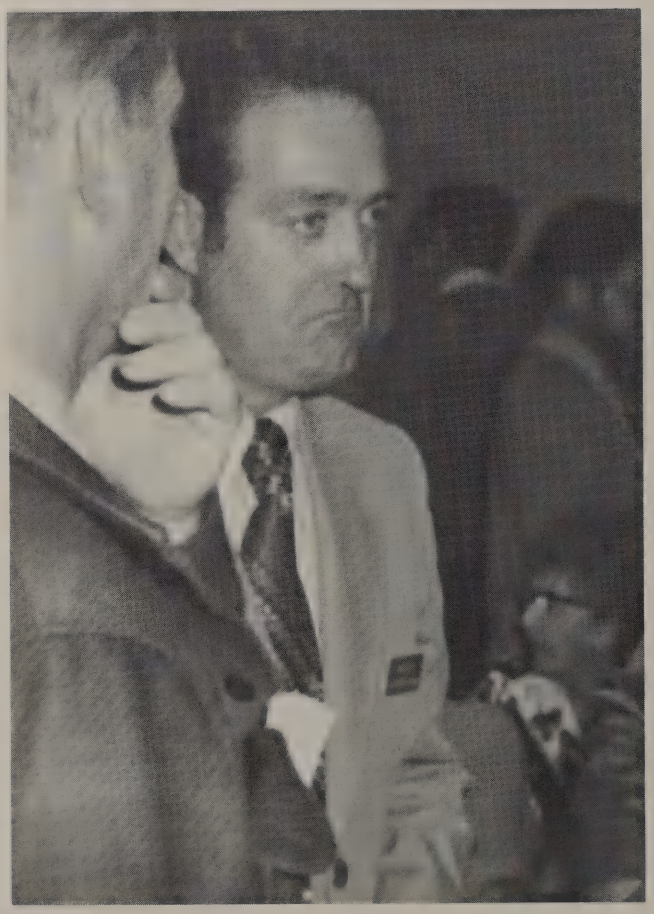
Love,
Sherri Peter

THE genesis of San Pasqual High School was definitely memorable. New faces and rules brought mixed emotions and reactions.

Students had their schedules corrected and eventually got into their wanted classes.

On September 14, an assembly was held to familiarize teachers and students to each other. Mr. Bruce Church, representative of the Balfour Company, presented SPHS with it's official crest, while Mr. Leland Dimon principal, welcomed everyone.

And students once again became accustomed to the routine of daily classes after the summer months.



Students adjust to new school

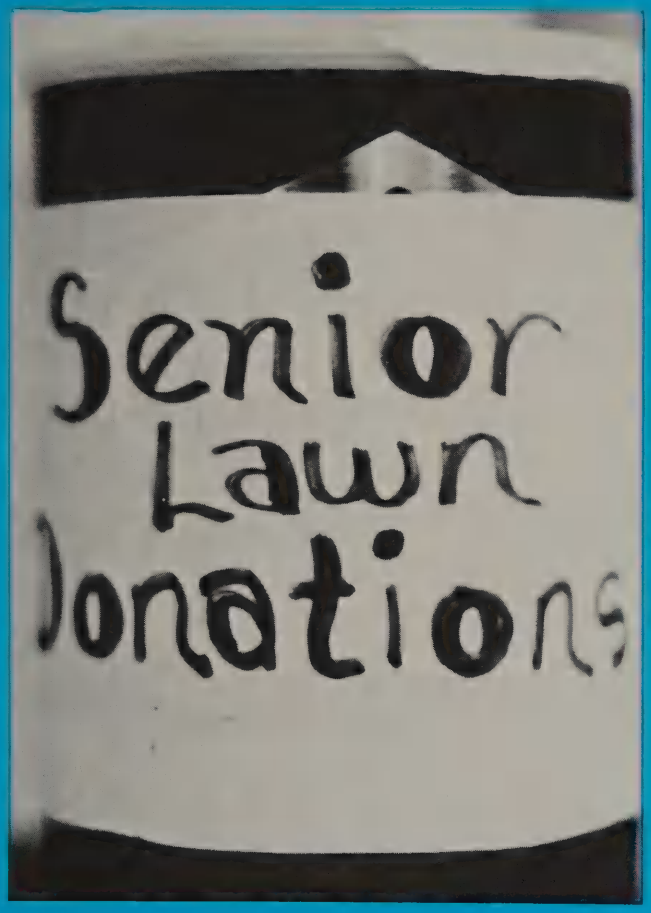
Students aware of ecology



AFTER the first weeks of school most students settled into familiar routines. Some traditions and happenings were created by the students and others by the administration. These activities included Campus Cleanup, a program started by the administration to involve the students with the SPHS environment. A senior lawn project was begun, with Mr. Frank Dixon and Mr. John Woodard acting as advisors.

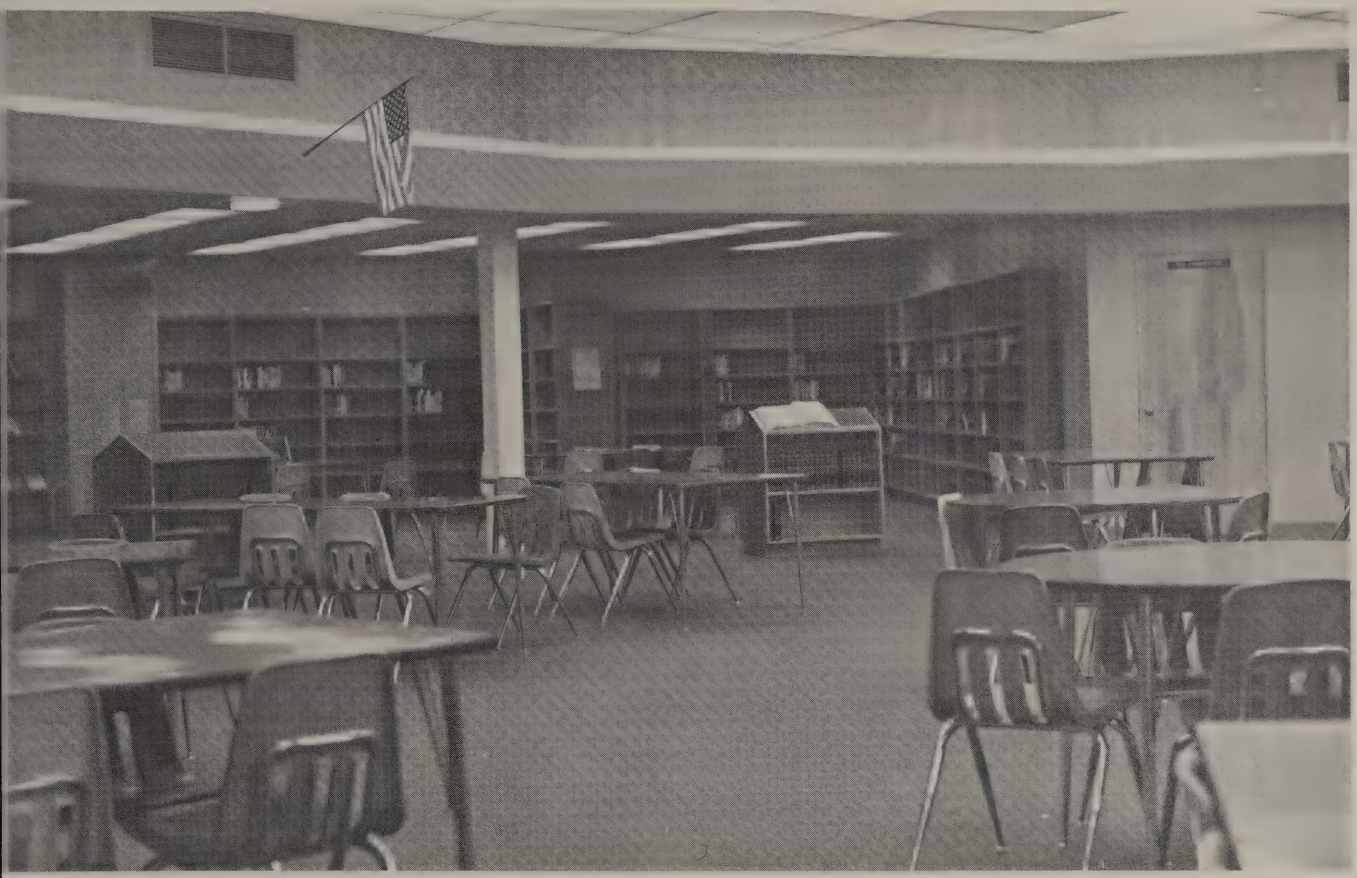
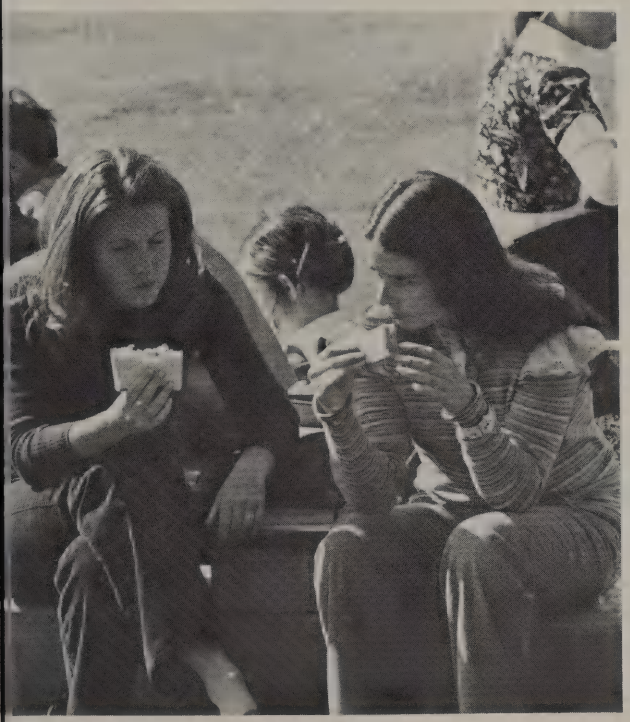
Media center hub of activity





THE Multi Media Center, under the direction of Mrs. Alison Hobson, librarian, proved to be an important center of activity. With new books and materials being received monthly, the students were kept busy, studying and researching.

A "Back To School Night" was held October 25, to acquaint parents with the faculty, campus and staff. Almost two thirds of all parents participated.

Another activity planned by students was the junior class car wash, held to earn funds for the senior lawn.

DURING the five days, of "Spirit Week" different events were held for students who dressed in the designated costume. On "Old Fashioned Day" a boogie woogie dance was held in room 412.

On November 10, the mothers of the varsity football players were invited to attend a pep rally. The mothers were introduced by Coach Gordon Marsh to the student body. Mums were given to each mother by their sons.

FRANK DIXON

A teacher in the EUHS District for the past ten years Frank Dixon heads the San Pasqual High School faculty as president of the Faculty Association. A respected educator, Dixon teaches U.S. History and Aviation ground school.

San Pasqual High School opened in September with perhaps more than its share of problems, some inherent in opening a "New School," many indigeneous to the Escondido Union High School District itself.

Many seemed to all of a sudden find that the school from which they transferred was the "Best of all possible schools." Even though that thought might not have occured to them while they were there. Discipline was the administrative opening concern and district policies were rigidly enforced at SPHS even if they had been resting, comfortably dormant, on the other three campuses. Recalcitrants were assured that SPHS was not any tougher than any of the other schools, SPHS just enforced rules that the others did not or could not. This logic was not the easiest to reconcile on the part of most of those involved.

Nevertheless, everyone soon found his place and SPHS moved into its first athletic and academic year—a "New School"—opened exactly as the school board, the district office, the administration, and the parents of Escondido wanted.

CATHERINE B. GAY

Mrs. Catherine Gay, a parent of two SPHS students, serves as a volunteer "Pink Lady" at Palomar Memorial Hospital. A competent seamstress, Mrs. Gay has a third child who will enter SPHS in two years.

My opinion of San Pasqual High School doesn't really differ from that of any other new school. Its main problem is that the bond issue didn't pass, it is unfinished and there are not enough facilities or variety of subjects for the students to select from.

I feel that school counselors and teachers do not motivate students enough in subjects which will benefit them in future careers and then let the students glide through school on snap subjects. I think the students would be better prepared if they had the choice, with guidance, of an academic or vocational high school.

As far as SPHS is concerned I have few if any complaints so far. I will have a student there for the next five years and I am anxious to see it grow. I feel this year's teachers and students have gotten off to a good start their first year. I commend the athletic teams for trying their best for a good showing their first year. I'm sure next year will show their work wasn't for nothing.

KAY LARMER

Kay Larmer, a SPHS junior, previously attended Escondido High School for two years. Interested in photography and art, Kay plans to travel to New York following graduation.

I think that I can speak for any student at San Pasqual High School that came from one of the other high schools in Escondido when I say that the hardest change to take this year was coming from fairly permissive schools to one that is so structured and overflowing with rules. I can understand the administrations wish to have the best school in the district. Any new administrator is only really doing part of his job when he hopes for perfection. But I personally have had spirit and dreams stuffed down my throat a few times too many this year. I enjoy the freedom of choice and would like to be able to choose for myself whether I have school spirit, what assembly I want to go to, or even just whether I would like a snack between breaks or not.

It's kind of sad because I know the rules weren't just made to antagonize us but to bring about a strong uniformity and thereby unity among students and administration. Yet instead of the student body pulling together, I see people just letting themselves be pushed in whatever direction someboody else feels best for them.

One of the neatest things I can say about coming to the opening year of San Pasqual is that groups of friends were split up by the zoning so that at the beginning of the year there weren't big cliques on campus and people seemed to be making friends with others on a more personal basis. Unfortunately I see the groupies reforming now and I'm afraid we're losing that good trait.

WILLIAM RADNEY

William Radney has for the past six years served the EUHS District as Assistant Superintendent. A previous Escondido High School principal, Radney has also served in the Escondido Elementary School District.

It is a pleasure to commend the students, staff and administration for the efforts which you have made in making this first year successful.

We realize that it has been a difficult task competing in the Avocado League; however, I feel that efforts will not have been in vain, you will be stronger another year because of it.

These are rapidly changing times and each of you must run fast in order to be able to cope with all the tasks which confront you as a young adult. You have the desire, perseverance and dedication to do your best each day.

We challenge each of you to continue to strive to make San Pasqual High School one of which we can be proud. Take advantage of all of the opportunities for developing your abilities to the maximum, so that when you become a graduate, you will always remember your successful high school days.

Herewith, four people all directly concerned with San Pasqual High School relate their thoughts, attitudes and hopes on this past school year—SPHS' first. Chosen because they represent a cross-section of the SPHS community, their opinions are honest, frank, and perhaps controversial. They do not, however, necessarily reflect everyone's viewpoint.

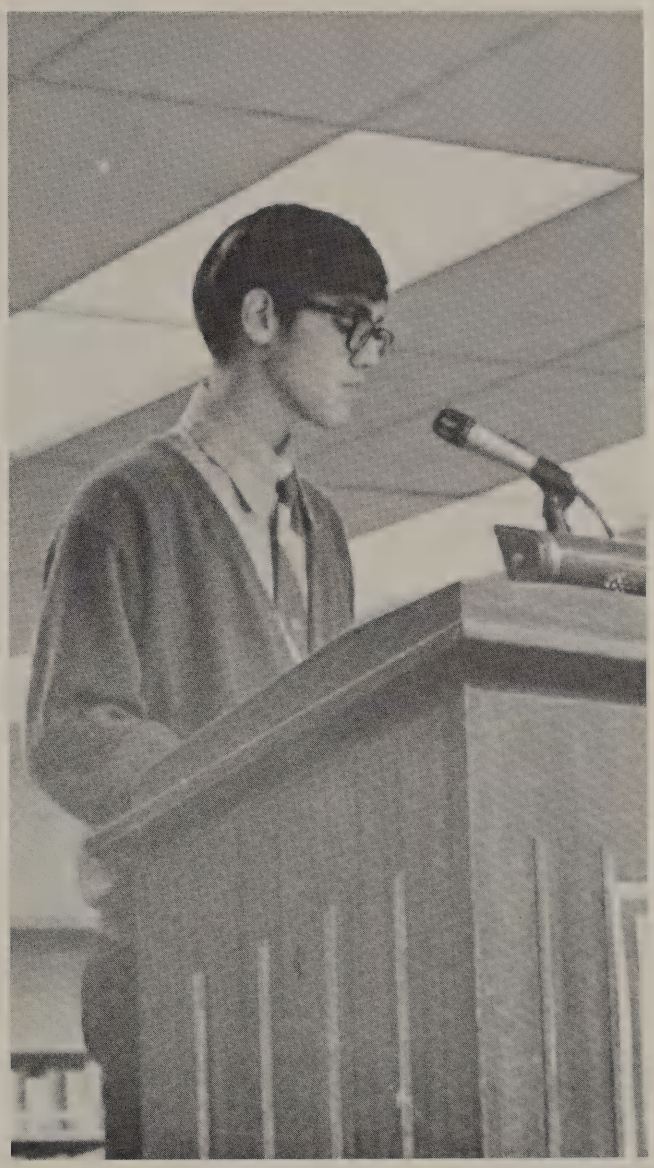
In charge of the flag ceremony was the American Legion Post. The laying of the cornerstone was done by the state Masonic team.

The SPHS Band performed and ASB President Jack Morris led the audiance in the Pledge of Allegiance. Afterwards an Open House was held.



Royalty replaces homecoming

SAN PASQUAL HIGH SCHOOL celebrated it's first Royalty Court game on November 10, at Orange Glen High School's field. The game was played against Escondido High School. SPHS lost 28-0. A freshman, sophomore and junior princess and prince were chosen by each class. Both the band and the drill team performed during halftime.

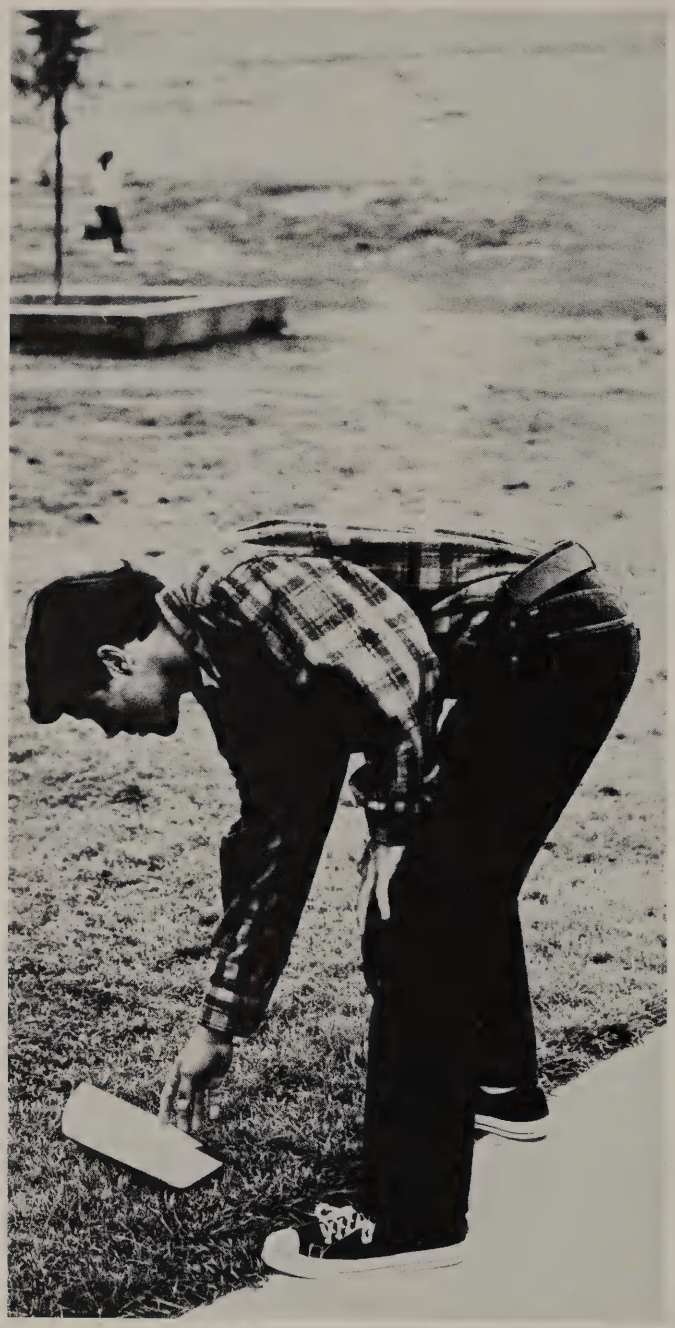
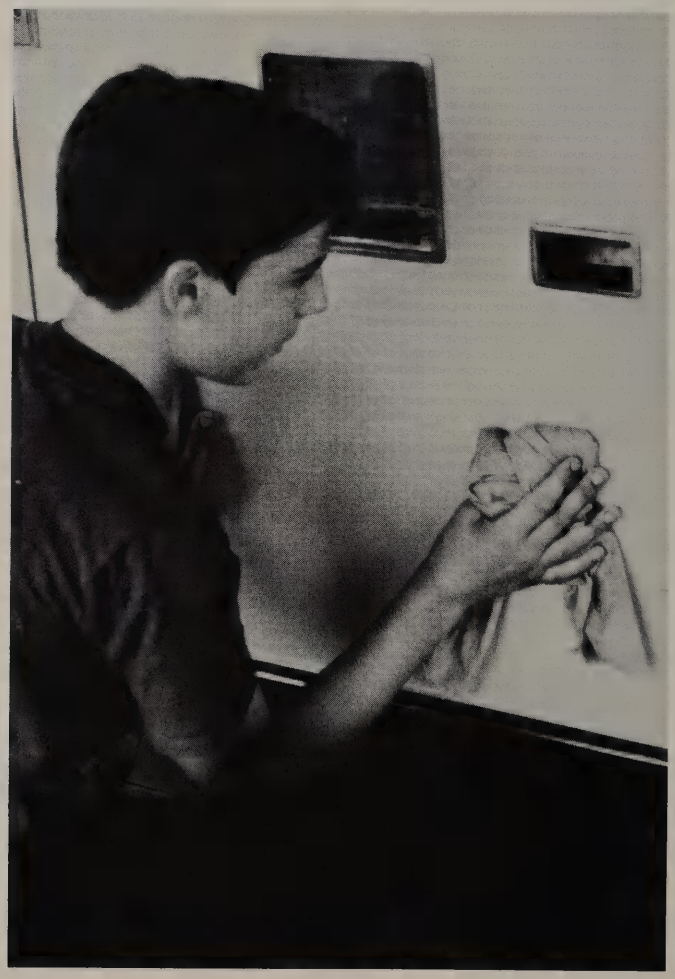
Pros and Cons of ecology outlined





Ecology - /e' kal je, -ji/: A branch of science concerned with the interrelationship of organisms and their environments esp. as manifested by natural cycles and rhythms, community development and structure, interaction between different kinds of organisms, geographic distributions and population alterations.

Webster's Third New International Dictionary

Ecology at San Pasqual High School may be different than what Webster had in mind. A group of students picking up trash every fifth period is more like trash patrol than "ecology patrol."

However, there are redeeming factors.

"In this era of individualism, each student needs to develop an awareness and self-pride concerning himself and his school," according to Mr. Mike Basalo, a staunch supporter of the school's ecology program.

The program, a brain-child of Mr. Chuck Christensen, SPHS special education teacher, began in October and lasted throughout the year. Suspicions that students weren't taking the patrol seriously, at times overshadowed results. The campus stayed clean. And that, regardless of what critics may say, was the main point.

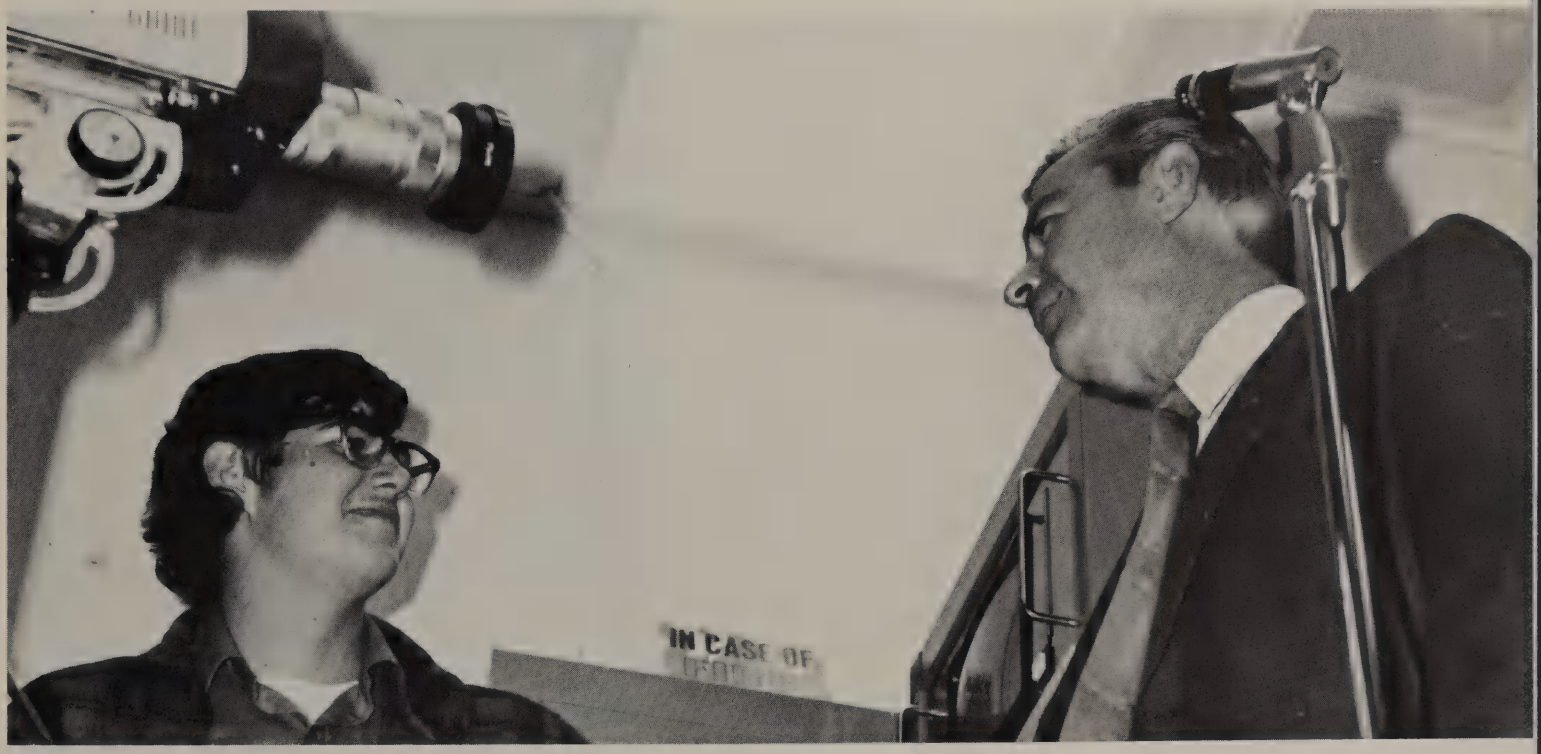
INSTRUCTIONAL television taught by Mr. John Lueken, was used this year in the overall instruction program of San Pasqual High School. ITV students learn the techniques of television production, and telecasts were available to all classrooms by the use of portable televisions.

Multi-Media center director, Mrs. Allison Hobson said, "We hope to have more than 500 hardback and reference books by next year." If there are enough requests, Mrs. Hobson hopes to have a paperback book collection.



Working together with people

WORK experience taught by Mr. Robert Ritter, gave students on-the-job training. The students received credits while they participated in actual job situations. Next year, San Pasqual High School will have a career guidance center which guides students toward a job.

Physical Education courses lacked the use of tennis courts, baseball diamonds, and a gymnasium. Physical fitness tests were held during the year, along with sports.

Students learn by helping

THE home economics department instructs in sewing, cooking, child care, family relation, and consumer education. Next year the home economics department hopes to have special courses in child development, consumer education, and a senior home economics course.

One of the classes offered this year to the Freshmen, Sophomore, and Juniors was Cadet and Cross-Age Teaching. Cadet teaching involved high school students assisting elementary school teachers in the classroom. Cross-Age teaching works on a one-to-one basis. The cross-age student instructs his pupil in one specific subject all year. These two courses will be offered next year because of the great interest in this field.

Skills seen in science, shops

"RECYCLING papers was one of the main projects of the science department," said Mr. John Woodard. More than 500 dollars were earned. The money was spent on food for biology animals and trees planted on the San Pasqual High School campus. At $12.00 a ton, the class received over $500 for the papers.

Wood and metal shops had an exhibit during spring in the library and shop rooms. Students made sculptures, furniture, and inscribings for this exhibit.

Talents shown in drama, art

STUDENTS in Art II and III demonstrated their talents at a Christmas and Spring art exhibit. They were held in the library. Mr. Wayne Kaesar, and Mrs. Jean Smith, San Pasqual High School art teachers sponsored the exhibits. During the year, students studied art appreciation along with the techniques of art. They studied prehistoric to modern art around the world.

Techniques in performing on stage and acting before the class were experienced by Drama I students this year. Mr. John Leuken, head of the drama department, said students were put in groups, one for each scene. After their parts were learned, the play was put on. Drama I was the only class offered this year in the Dramatic Arts.

El Aguila, Golden Legend Provide News

The San Pasqual High School journalism department was headed by the nine-member El Aguila newspaper staff. In October, the Escondido Daily Times-Advocate held its second annual Journalism Day, with SPHS writers gaining four of nine awards.

The Golden Legend yearbook, led by editor-in-chief Jim Christensen operated with a completely inexperienced staff. American Yearbook Company, with Mr. Steve Wagner as representative, printed the school's first document.

THE Golden Eagles displayed improved talent in each game. After playing in such lopsided games as 60-0 (Fallbrook) 77-0 (Vista), and 30-0 (Orange Glen), SPHS held SD-CIF bound Escondido High School to just 28 points.

A district wide controversy arose in mid-season involving student athlete transfers. Several key football players who allegedly should have attended SPHS were enrolled in other schools.

Eagles battle inexperience

DESPITE the traumas of an 0-9 record the San Pasqual High School football team and coaching staff remained steadfastly optimistic. "We are very enthusiastic about the 1973 season," stated Head Coach Gordon Marsh.

Participating with only juniors and sophomores, the varsity was obviously hurt by lack of experience and senior players. The cliche of "wait until next year" seems to hold true, however. With the undefeated frosh team and experienced junior varsity players coming up, hopes of improving for next year are realistic.

Marsh was assisted by Del Griffin, defensive coach, Jim Vernetti, line coach, and Frank Garduno. Sophomore halfback Bernie Wolfe led the Golden Eagle offense while Don Muren and Joe Friedrichs were outstanding on defense.

*Double Overtime

THIS year's track team was coached by Mr. Brad Merrill and the field events were under the direction of Mr. Jim Vernetti.

Rock Martineau recorded the best distance time with 10:05 for the two mile and a 4:42 for the one mile. Russ Snow and Gene Kiley both held the high jump record of 5'10". The sprinters were coming along slowly because of track and weather conditions.

"We lacked depth, but next year with a senior class we should have enough depth to carry us" stated Merrill.

After losing to Escondido in the first match of the season, the Golden Eagles came back to whip San Marcos for their first win.

Pitchers Tracy Hawk, Don Muren, and Brian Caruso led SPHS through its first season. Basalo, in spite of his teams' youth, predicted a high finish for the Golden Eagles.

The Junior Varsity baseball team was led by head coach Gordon Marsh. "We should meet with early success," speculated Gordon Marsh.

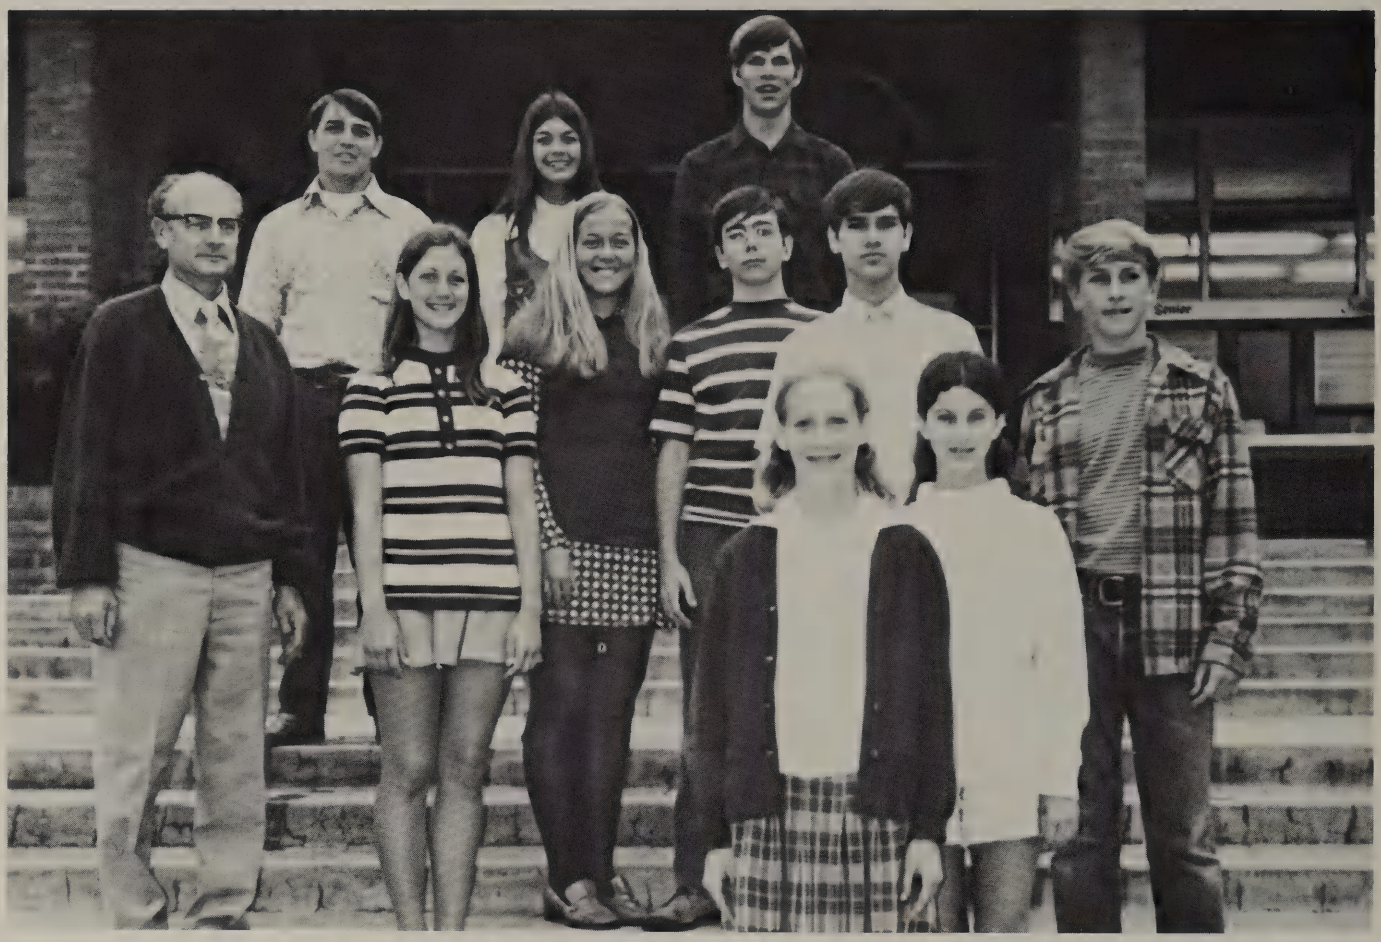
ASB sets guidelines



THE Associated Student Body at San Pasqual High School was advised by Mr. Roy Williamson. The Coalition Government started out the year by revising the school constitution from San Marcos High School. After the changes were made, the entire student body voted on the present document.

At the beginning of the year, ASB cards were sold to the student body of SPHS. Parking permits were also given out to those students who drove to school.

Along with Interact, a service club, they sponsored the first SPHS Royalty Dance held at the Orange Glen High School Gym. Members of ASB sold tickets to the student body.

Two of ASB's many activities were organizing the clubs around school and counting the election ballots.

Cheerleaders chosen from OGHS, EHS

THIS year San Pasqual High School's first cheerleaders were chosen in a unique way. Since there were no students to vote for the girls, teachers from Orange Glen and Escondido high schools got together April 1972, at OGHS and chose the girls with the most spirit and the best ability. Mrs. Joy Briggs was chosen to be the adviser for all the three cheerleader squads.

During the year, SPHS cheerleaders took part in such activities as pep rallies, cheering from football to baseball games, painting goal post signs and having spirit breakfasts.

Donna DeJulien, first SPHS mascot, organized various skits that were presented at pep rallies. Her job was to promote school spirit.

Art, French, Health Clubs formed

MRS. Jean Smith, advisor, and the Art Club decided to be a service club for the school. They offered their services to teachers and clubs on campus. The club decorated bulletin boards in the class rooms for the environment. Posters were made for dances and announcements.

Advisor Mrs. Joy Briggs helped the French club plan their activities which included a French dinner, dances, and a club field trip. To raise money for these projects, they sold candy bars and had a car wash held in October.

A committee was formed to write the San Pasqual High School's Alma Mater and fight song under the leadership of Mr. William Sumner. All students at SPHS were given the opportunity to sign up to be on the committee. The Alma Mater and fight song were completed during December.

Health Careers is a club that broadens the members' knowledge in the field of health. Mrs. Margaret Cook, school nurse, was advisor. Included in the year's activities were trips to nearby hospitals and homes for the retarded.

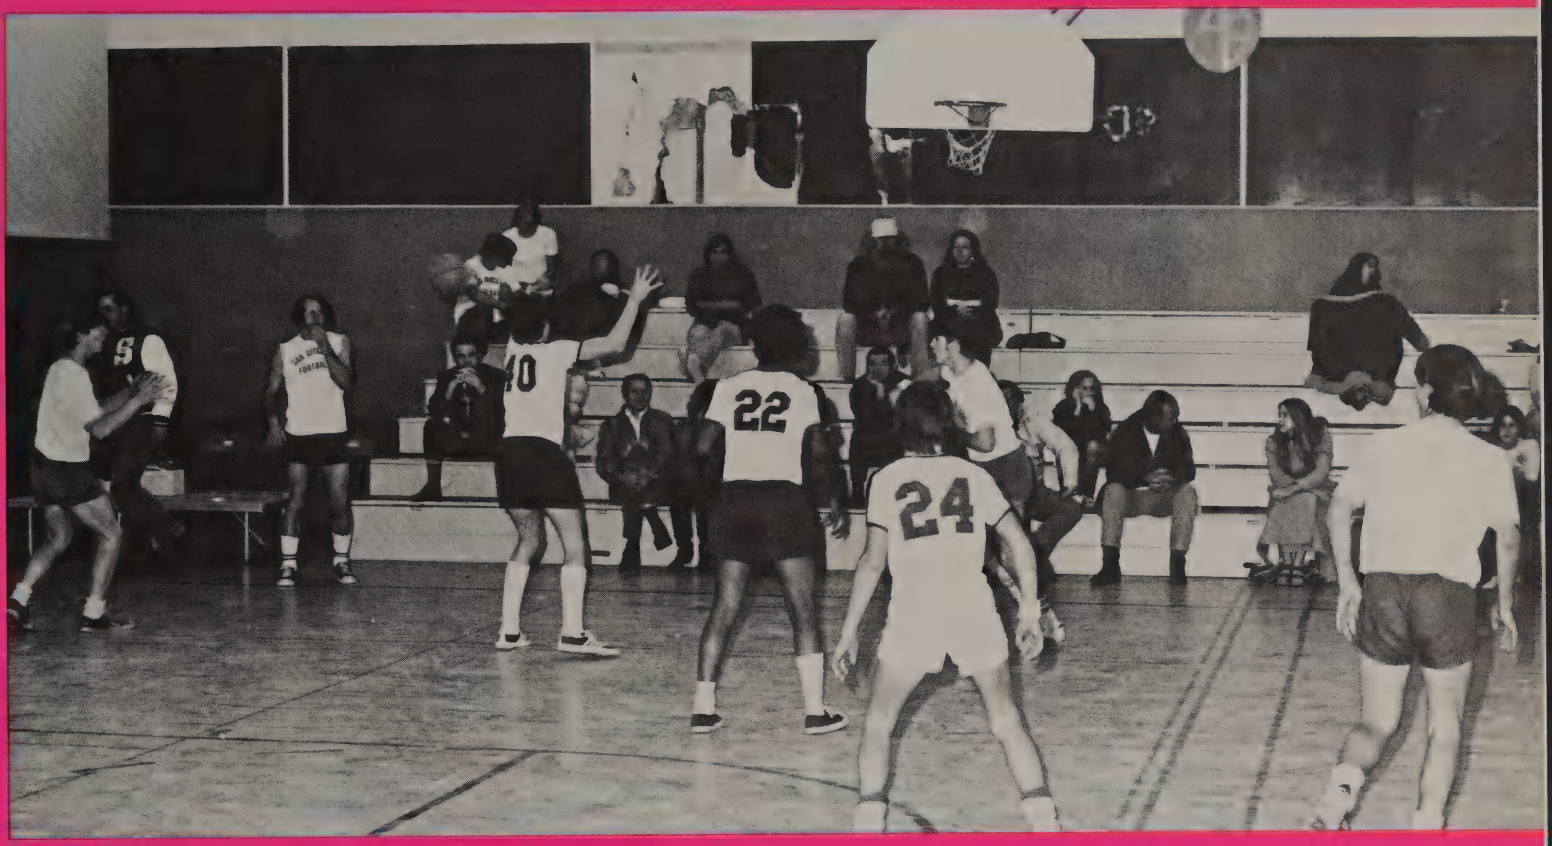
Interact schedules activities



INTERACT, a service club advised by Mr. Frank Garduno, helped plan and sponsor San Pasqual High School's first Royalty Dance. They did this along with the ASB. Members of Interact sold tickets to the SPHS student body.

SPHS Interact was invited to play against San Dieguito High School's Key Club and cheerleaders in the First Annual Basketball Marathon. The members who played in the marathon got sponsors to pay them for every hour they played or for every point they scored. This money went towards landscaping the senior lawn.

Many Interact members attended a special class in lecturing on the harms of smoking. They then presented the facts to the elementary schools in the Escondido area.

Also included in Interact's activities last year were selling and taking tickets at the door of SPHS home basketball games and going Christmas caroling during vacation.

TRIPS to Elfin Forest, San Pasqual Wild Animal Park and the beach highlighted this year's Bike Club headed by Mr. Stephen Kirby. Plans were also made for an overnight bike outing.

The Ski Club started off by attending ski lessons at the Don Diego Convair ski club in San Diego. They took a trip to the snow summit in Big Bear during December. They also planned to invite other ski clubs from nearby high schools to spend a weekend skiing at Mammoth. Mr. Kirby advised this club.

The fifth period ecology patrol was formulated by the Ecology Committee and their advisor, Mr. Chuck Christiansen. Money was to be raised to landscape the campus.

This year's Back Packing Club planned to go to the desert and San Jacinto. Their advisor was Mr. Carl Hammer.

Drill Team, Pep Club active

THE Golden Eagle Drill Team, led by Adviser Mrs. Ferol Kent, sparkled throughout the year.

Accompaning the band, the drill team finished third in its first competition, the "Tournament of Bands" held in Escondido.

The drill team practiced everyday during the summer months. During the school year, the team practiced their routines before and after school along with the band.

Since the girls in the drill team came from Escondido and Orange Glen high schools, they had to meet at EHS during the summer for try-outs.

The Pep Club sold colorful bumper stickers to the SPHS student body. The proceeds from the bumper sticker sales were used in making the signs for the school.

THE Golden Eagle Band performed for the first time at The First Annual Tournament of Bands at Escondido High School's Memorial Field. The SPHS Band hosted this tournament and marched away with Class A Third Place for band and drill team.

The band received their new uniforms on October 21, partly with funds collected at the Bandorama.

Aside from providing halftime entertainment at football games, the band marched in many parades and band reviews throughout the year. Included was the Hawthorne Band Review where they took Class C Second Place in November.

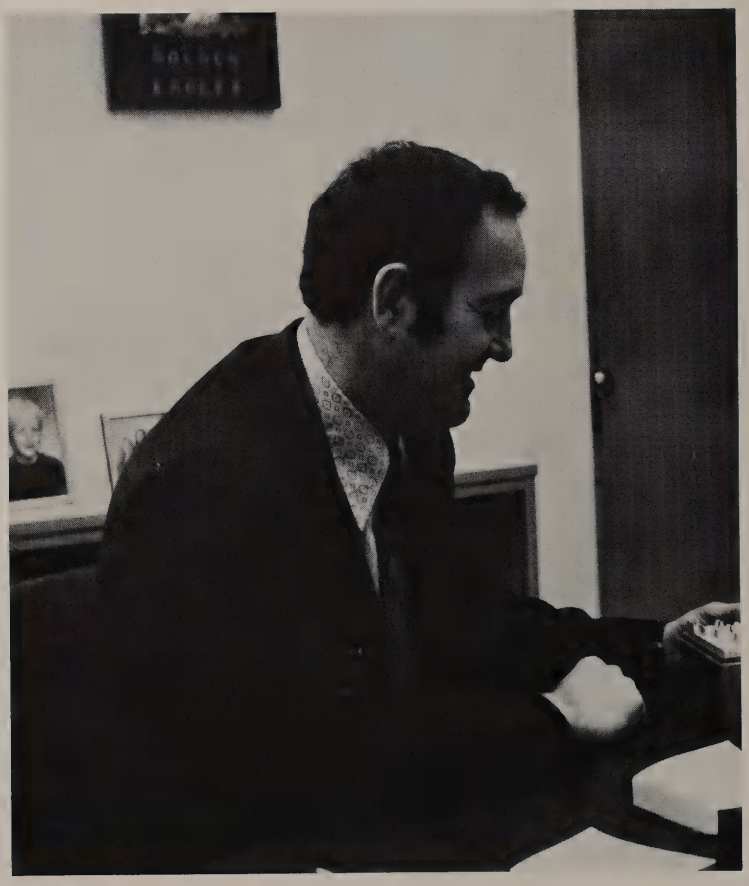
Bond fails; Board sets goals



AS a result of the defeat of the November 7 Escondido Union High School Bond election, which required a two-thirds majority to pass, district officals were forced with the possibility of overcrowding at San Pasqual High School next school year. Superintendent G.W. Quade and trustees pondered several possible solutions to overcrowding, among them year-round schools. In late January, trustees and Quade, along with SPHS principal Leland Dimon, decided on putting SPHS on a staggered schedule for next year.

The EUHS Board of Trustees, led by President Richard Gifford governs the four high schools in the EUHS district; San Pasqual, Escondido, San Marcos, and Orange Glen.

FACULTY chosen in spring

SAN PASQUAL HIGH SCHOOL Principal Leland Dimon selected most of the 50 faculty members in spring, 1972.

The faculty, composed of experienced veterans and first-year teachers was chosen, with a few exceptions, from the Escondido Union High School District.

Mr. Dimon was formerly vice-principal at San Marcos High School and was selected to his present position in 1971.

Cindy,

I know you believe you understand what you think I said but I am not sure you realize that what you heard is not what I said. Understand?

Oh well, this is Cherie. How was the second semester with Wayne Kaeser (As in Razor) at SPHS? I'll have to admit he is a better teacher than Mrs. Nancy West at OG. But I'm glad I left! My picture unfortunately was put into this yearbook (It's really bad!) I forgot to tell you.... Oh well, Now I forgot what I forgot to tell you! Anyway, Have fun next year + (this summer at Hume) In Crist, — Cherie Peacock
